2. GAINING A PLACE IN GRADUATE-ENTRY MEDICINE – At the University of Melbourne, medicine is a Graduate-entry degree, with applicants first needing to complete a degree including prerequisite studies (e.g. the University of Melbourne’s B. Biomedicine or the B. Science). Selection to this degree is based on the Graduate Medical School Admissions Test (GAMSAT), usually sat in the final year of the undergraduate degree (including completion of prerequisite studies) and an interview. Students attend an interview if they meet the other two criteria. Each criterion is weighted equally by the selection panel.

   Info: www.medicine.unimelb.edu.au/study/here/md/application_process. As this is a postgraduate qualification, there is no need to sit the Undergraduate Medicine and Health Sciences Admission Test (UMAT). (The UMAT is now only required to be sat in Victoria by applicants for the undergraduate medicine degree at Monash University).

   Two other Graduate-entry medical degrees are offered in Victoria, at Deakin University in Geelong and Monash in Gippsland (Monash also offers the only Victorian undergraduate medical degree).

   As previously stated, from 2017, at least 50 of the 75 domestic places available into the Monash Graduate Entry MBBS will be reserved for students who have completed Monash University’s Bachelor of Biomedical Science. The others will be open to students who have completed the following Monash University degrees: Bachelor of Biomedical Science (including double degrees), Bachelor of Pharmacy, Bachelor of Physiotherapy and Bachelor of Science (dependent on the completion of designated units). Selection of students for the Graduate-entry MBBS will include a multiple mini interview; the GAMSAT will not be required. Deakin does not specify any undergraduate degree to be completed first, but applicants will need to be equipped to answer questions in the GAMSAT and complete an interview.
